

Time to think about HEAT!

Whether you heat with wood, propane, oil, or something else, it's time to think about how to get the best price for your fuel this winter. Last winter was COLD, perhaps you used more fuel than you planned for – don't get caught in the cold this year! Talk to your Resource Coordinator about your best options for this winter, including:

BUDGET PLAN

This plan estimates your total annual heating bill and divides your payments equally over the course of the year.

PRE-BUY

This allows you to purchase the number of gallons of fuel you anticipate using throughout the heating season at a fixed rate. If the market price of oil increases or decreases during the season, your price will not be affected.

PRICE CAP

This program might offer protection against fuel price increases if your fuel dealer can provide a cap on your cost AND a no limit on how low the price can go. This program may cost a bit more up front.

GROUP BUY

Group buying, also known as collective buying, offers products and services at significantly reduced prices on the condition that a minimum number of buyers would make the purchase. Group buying programs have an enrollment fee. Examples of buying groups in Central and Northeastern Vermont are:

VSECU's VHeat Program: $25 fee and must be a member of VSECU (open to all Vermonters) vsecu.com

Hilltop Energy Group: $50 annual fee and deadline for enrollment cheapvermontfuel.com

Farm Bureau: Membership & annual fee, see website vtfb.org
